Regulations for Projects, Oral/Written Exams, and Term Papers in English Linguistics during the Digital Summer Semester 2020, 6 May 2020

Disclaimer: These regulations are based on the information available on 6 May 2020. Updated versions of this document may be made available in the light of new developments and/or changed university regulations. You will always find the latest version of this document at https://anglistik.philol.uni-leipzig.de/de/aktuelles.1.html.

These regulations apply for modules in which more than one teaching staff is involved. If your module is not listed here, you will be informed by your instructor about any changes in regulations.

Module 04-ANG-1301 and Module 04-001-1003

We expect the final exam to take place as originally planned, i.e. on 14 July 2020 at 1:00 p.m.

We are currently trying to secure additional rooms so that everyone can be seated with the appropriate distance from everybody else. Students will be informed via Moodle about the room they need to go to.

ERASMUS students will have to notify their course instructor(s) by 1 July whether they are going to take the exam.

Module 04-ANG-1302-B

Those students who need to re-take the oral exam will be offered two options:

1. 4/5 June
2. 15/16 September

If you have not been in contact with the module coordinator, Jakob Neels, email him to sign up for one of these two examination periods. You will receive further organizational instructions a few days before the exam.

Module 04-002-1304

The oral exams will take place between 20 July and 23 July. Your instructor will offer the relevant slots and make further organizational instructions available to you a few days before the exam.

Module 04-ANG-2301-A/B

a) Project presentations take place as planned, but electronically. This means you should either
   a. record yourself using PowerPoint, Loom, or even your smartphone¹ and then add three questions for discussion to the forum of your class, or
   b. deliver the presentation live in BBB or Zoom (if your instructor offers this), so that the discussion can take place there.
   c. If you have serious difficulties delivering an online presentation, we will offer the options to either create a detailed poster or to hand in the full text of the presentation as you would deliver it.

b) Written project documentation: Due to the still reduced availability of literature via the libraries, the deadline has been moved to 15 August 2020. Please hand in your term paper electronically as advised by your instructor. The page with the affidavit („Eignenständigkeitserkärung“) needs to be signed and scanned. (A picture taken with your phone is fine!)

¹ We care about the content and presentation, not about technology. Use whatever makes life easiest for you!
c) Any alternative requirements in Dr. Reuter’s or Prof. Fiedler’s classes remain unchanged.

Module 04-ANG-2304

You need to decide with whom you want to do your term paper by 15 June 2020. Only a limited number of slots is available with each instructor. The deadline for term papers is 20 September 2020. If you are planning to graduate this semester, please let your instructor know and hand the paper in earlier to allow sufficient time for marking.
